NEW YORK, NY, March 2023 - TEATRO CÍRCULO, one of the leading bilingual Latino theatre companies in New York City, continues its 2023 Season from April 14 to 30 at Chain Theatre (312 West 36th St., 3rd floor) with 'La caída de Rafael Trujillo' (The Downfall of Rafael Trujillo) by Carmen Rivera, a play that delves into the last phase of the life of the controversial ruler of the Dominican Republic who governed his country with an iron fist for more than 30 years.

Carmen Rivera is the creative force behind various box office stage blockbusters; her play, 'La gringa', winner of the 1996 OBIE Award, is the longest running Latino show in Off Broadway history. 'La caída de Rafael Trujillo' spans over 5 dedicated years of intensive scholarship, primary research, first-person interviews, as well as source material from CUNY's acclaimed Institute for Dominican Studies, and it was published by NoPassport in 2015.

TEATRO CÍRCULO celebrated its 20th Anniversary in 2014 with the world premiere of 'La caída de Rafael Trujillo', directed by Cándido Tirado, which ran for two successful seasons. This year 2023, it returns to the stage in Spanish with overtitles in English, with a new stellar cast and as part of Teatro Fest NYC 2023, a festival of the Alliance of Teatros Latinos of New York compound by Iati Theater, INTAR, Pregones/Puerto Rican Traveling Theater, Repertorio Español, Teatro LATEA, Teatro SEA, Thalia Spanish Theatre and Teatro Círculo. In 'La caída de Rafael Trujillo', Carmen Rivera, an NYU alumnus whose graduate studies focused on Latin American dictatorships, sets up a series of events, internal uprisings, betrayal, international pressures and political intrigue, as well as the personal failures that led to the downfall of Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina. "This play reflects on how so many Latin American people as well as continental Spaniards have survived the trauma and violence of dictatorships, it speaks of the remarkable resiliency of these communities and how they have committed to move forward in the spirit of democracy despite the enormous challenges they faced in their respective societies," explains Rivera.

A person from the audience wrote about the staging of 'La caída de Rafael Trujillo', "Absorbing, great acting, profound, relevant, thought-provoking. You should see it if you want to get a closer look into the hearts of humans and monsters."

LIMITED ENGAGEMENT from April 14 to 30, 2023 at CHAIN THEATRE, 312 West 36th St. (between 8th and 9th Avenues), 3rd floor, in Manhattan. Performed in Spanish with overtitles in English. ADA accessibility.
